Reflections

Pastor Caleb Hughes

Dependence in a Culture of Independence

We live in the culture of self-empowerment. Our culture says your needs are foremost, that you are perfect just as you are, that you should follow your heart and do what feels right, and that you need not depend on anyone for anything.

As believers we must be entirely clear: the message of personal independence is completely antithetical to our relationship with the Lord upon whom every breath that fills our lungs depends. The moments in which God's people found themselves walking away from Him were the moments where they desired to live independently of Him and His design for their lives and His creation.

Adam and Eve began to die when they desired independence from God; Israel began to implode, when they desired their own human king instead of their heavenly King; the kingdom fell into disarray, when Solomon sought pleasure from godless women instead of delighting in the Lord.

"God is most glorified in us, when we are most satisfied in Him." That John Piper quote molded and has prepared me during the age of self-empowerment and self-fulfillment.

Make no mistake: the most important thing in your life is pleasure, but that pleasure isn't found independent of God, but solely dependent on Him. "You make known to me the path of life; in your presence there is fullness of joy; at your right hand are pleasures forevermore." — Psalm 16:11. Be a pleasure seeker! But more importantly, know where lasting pleasure is found.

We ask that you follow these guidelines to help prevent the spread of infection (related to the COVID-19 virus) while in attendance of worship.

We ask that you wear a mask at all times in the building/worship area.

Use hand sanitizer upon entering and exiting the building.

The ushers will sit families together separating them 6 feet from other families.

We ask that you NOT shake hands or come into close contact with others outside your immediate family.

Wash your hands with soap and water for 20 seconds after using the restroom.

Once the worship area is at 50% capacity, we will seat families in the greeting room or dining area to view the service on TV.

Thank you for helping us keep everyone as safe as possible during these times. We pray things are back to normal soon.
God Bless
