Just Pray

That is a phrase that I hear often as a pastor that I think you probably hear from time to time as well, and I'm not really sure how to feel about it! I hear it when one of our church family or another friend is going through a hard time—perhaps a sickness, stress over test results, a family difficulty, a work conflict, or some other trial. As a pastor (but really as a fellow Christ follower!) I just feel led to minister in any way I can: "What can I do? How can I help?" There's nothing wrong with the phrase, but it is a frequent reply, "Just pray."

I often say it myself! But doesn't it strike you as odd to put the word "just" in front of the word "pray." It makes it sound like, "I wish there was more to be done, but it's just all you can do." But I think there is more to it than that. I think it's bigger than that. I think it's more powerful than that.

In Mark 9, when Jesus' disciples were working miracles for and through Jesus' name around Galilee, they came to a boy with an unclean spirit tormenting him. The disciples had cast out spirits/demons before, but this one had proven too great of a test for them. The boy was convulsing terribly and violently. By God's grace, Jesus intervened and the unclean spirit left the boy. The next part is striking; the disciples asked Jesus privately why they couldn't cast it out, and Jesus replied, "This kind cannot be driven out by anything but prayer," (Mark 9:29).

I love this verse in the conversation about "just" praying. Prayer should not only be our last resort; it should be our first action. Prayer is not the thing at the bottom of the barrel when no other aid can be given. It is the primary means through which we can aid the comfort, peace, rest, refuge, strength, etc. of those in times of need. Greater than the aid we can administer is the aid that only God can administer.

Many are the variables that rise and fall in our life, but one will forever be fixed: our God, the supreme God who knows no limit and whose love is steadfast and immovable, is for us and hears our prayers.

Are you in the fire and flames in this season of life? Just pray, if such a thing can be said!
